

Tackle skills shortages and recruit new talent

Talentview Construction is here to help

How does Talentview Construction work?

- 1 Head over to talentview.org/construction.
- 2 Sign up as an employer and build your profile page.
- 3 Promote your opportunities and entry level vacancies for free.
- 4 Search for and contact suitable candidates.
- 5 Make contacts with local colleges.

Showcase your business to talented new recruits. Upload all your early career vacancies, including traineeships, apprenticeships and graduate jobs.

Search for suitable candidates and directly contact students and apprentices, as well as connecting more closely with schools, universities and construction colleges.

What's it for?

- Apprenticeships
- Traineeships
- Graduate roles
- Other entry level jobs
- Work experience
- Taster sessions

This is exactly what so many businesses have been crying out for, helping them tackle skills shortages and gear up for future growths.

Talentview Construction is run by the Construction Talent Retention Scheme (CTRS) with support from the Construction Leadership Council, CITB and a wide range of employers, industry bodies, professional institutions, colleges and construction unions.

Construction is changing rapidly as it adopts new technologies and helps meet ambitious global targets on carbon and environmental sustainability. It's not just about muddy boots anymore – it's an increasingly varied workplace. Making it as easy as possible for people wanting to find a career in all that construction has to offer through Talentview is something we encourage colleges to explore with their students and graduates.
